	Decision: The proposal was approved Suggestions received: a) Being a futuristic course, lot of inspirational steps must be taken. Local NGOs and Govt. bodies should be involved in the projects as is being done in IMT Ghaziabad. Students should be made to work for a fortnight on the site and align with sustainability goals of UNGCN (India). Dr. Kamal Singh, DG of UNGCN (India) assured all support in this domain. b) This course may produce three heroes – student, faculty and the organization where they work, as they feel that they are doing something different and meaningful. Stress should be on experiential learning instead of classroom lectures. c) Companies may give Projects, Consulting assignments and Research projects combined. It was advised that our students go to NTPC sustainability projects. Each group analyses the impact and report is given to NTPC. d) Some social worker celebrities should be called for lectures as inspirational factor.	a) We are in close contact with the office of Chief Development Officer (CDO) of Greater Noida, Sarpanchs of peripheral villages ; PSUs and corporate like NTPC, Ultratech Cement ; Ambuja Cements and local NGOs. In context of suggestions that students should work for a fortnight on the site, its feasibility is being worked out. b) From very beginning, the focus of pedagogy is on experiential learning. Identification of three heroes would be done in due course of time. c) We request companies to provide and engage students which include project work, research and finding solutions to the problems. In case of NTPC, it has been done by the students and reports submitted by students have been appreciated by NTPC management. d) Celebrities in social sector would be invited to interact with the students.
